the past two decades have seen an increased interest in education especially in core areas such as mathematics language and science this is in part a consequence of the increase in the number of international comparisons of educational outcomes such as pisa and timss much research has focused on the contributions that curricula financial resources parental support and so on might have on educational outcomes a factor that seems likely to have a very significant effect on student achievement teachers practices and beliefs has received little attention this book reports results from a research program that sought to develop and employ research methods to compare teachers practices and beliefs across canada it provides insight into the challenge of such research and describes teachers contexts beliefs and practices and how they differ in four regions and across two languages using a multivocal ethnography approach tobin 1999 teachers were involved in the preparation and discussion of videos of their own teaching and that of others this approach resulted in not only insights into the teachers pedagogies and practices but also opportunities for the teachers to reflect on their own teaching in new ways and for researchers to reflect on research practices and orientations the work is innovative in several ways in a field crowded with research on teachers practices beliefs and knowledge this research helps to unearth the implicit values that underlie the way teachers see teaching itself through the process of observation of each other s practice the teachers became aware of their own pedagogies giving them new insights into their values and practices researchers also engaged in a parallel process of reflection on their own practices as observers of teachers with similar insights into the values guiding their work this book will be of interest to government policy makers teachers and teacher educators as well as researchers in mathematics education members of the aera sig in research in mathematics education the canadian mathematics education study group the nctm and provincial mathematics teacher associations are potential readers praise for researching pedagogy and practice with canadian mathematics teachers what a treasure this book is an important resource for anyone interested in high quality mathematics teaching it fills a gap in our understanding of how mathematics is taught across canada where students are among the highest performing on international mathematics assessments the studies reported are conceptually grounded methodologically rigorous and filled with nuanced observations of the similarity and variation in classroom teaching across many of the canadian provinces edward a silver senior associate dean for research graduate studies william a brownell collegiate professor of education professor of mathematics university of michigan in schools serving high concentrations of bilingual learners it can be especially challenging for teachers to maintain commitments to equity minded instruction while meeting the demands of new educational policies including national standards this book details how one school integrated equity pedagogy into a standards based curriculum and produced exemplary levels of achievement as the authors illustrate however the school s dual commitment to bilingual education and standards based reform engendered numerous complex tensions specifically the authors describe teachers attempts to balance demands for rigor and content coverage within their high performing school and with their diverse student population they identify specific tensions that emerged around the following issues the degree of academic struggle that is generative for student learning and the point at which such struggle becomes counterproductivethe holding of high expectations for all learners and the provision of differentiated student centered learning experiencethe ccss emphasis on engaging students around more complex text and the contested determination of what constitutes complexity in text and in teachingthe influence of high stakes accountability on school norms and practices including teachers interpretations and enactment of new national standardsthe performance pressures placed on teachers in today s educational policy context this book offers welcome guidance on dialogical teaching to socially committed teachers and teacher educators linda valli university of maryland a must read for those interested in transformative teacher learning kris d gutiérrez carol liu professor gse university of california berkeley science inquiry argument and language describes research that has focused on addressing the issue of embedding language practices within science inquiry through the use of the science writing heuristic approach in recent years much attention has been given to two areas of science education scientific argumentation and science literacy the research into scientific argument have adopted different orientations with some focusing on science argument as separate to normal teaching practices that is teaching students about science argument prior to using it in the classroom context while others have focused on embedding science argument as a critical component of the inquiry process the current emphasis on science literacy has emerged because of greater understanding of the role of language in doing and reporting on science science is not viewed as being separate from language and thus there is emerging research emphasis on how best to improving science teaching and learning through a language perspective again the research orientations are parallel to the research on scientific argumentation in that the focus is generally between instruction separate to practice as opposed to embedding language practices within the science classroom context
